

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Pride of Reading Award-Winning Musician Opens New Creative Studio in Caversham

PDM Studios, a new music studio located at Southview Business Park, Marsack Street, Caversham, Reading, RG4 5AF, has officially opened, providing a dedicated creative space for Pride of Reading Award-winning musician, composer and guitar teacher Peter Doyle.

The new studio will be used as the home for Peter's latest recording project, where he is writing and producing a brand-new original album. Alongside his own creative work, PDM Studios will offer high-quality one-to-one guitar lessons for children and adults, from complete beginners through to experienced players looking to develop their skills.

The space will also become the rehearsal home for Peter's community initiative, The Guitar Orchestra of Reading, bringing local guitarists together to rehearse, perform and celebrate music as a community. In addition, PDM Studios will host music industry networking events, creating opportunities for songwriters, film composers, music publishers and other music professionals to connect, collaborate and develop new creative projects.

Drawing on his professional network through memberships of the Musicians' Union, The Ivors Academy, PRS for Music and the Royal Society of Musicians, Peter hopes to attract established and emerging music industry professionals to Reading. His ambition is to help strengthen the town's reputation as a destination for songwriting, composition, collaboration and music industry networking, creating new opportunities for local musicians while encouraging creative talent from further afield.

Peter, who has spent decades performing, composing and teaching across Berkshire, hopes the studio will become a welcoming hub where creativity, education and collaboration thrive.

"Opening PDM Studios is an exciting new chapter," said Peter. "I wanted to create more than just a teaching studio. It's a place where I can write and produce my own music, help people learn guitar, bring the Guitar Orchestra of Reading together, and create opportunities for musicians and industry professionals to meet, collaborate and inspire one another. By drawing on my professional networks, I also hope to help put Reading firmly on the map as a place where composers, songwriters and music industry professionals want to meet and create."

As well as teaching, Peter continues to perform live and compose original music, with his forthcoming album set to be produced entirely from PDM Studios.

PDM Studios is based at Southview Business Park, Marsack Street, Caversham, Reading, RG4 5AF.

For more information about guitar lessons, The Guitar Orchestra of Reading, networking events or Peter's music projects, visit www.peterdoylemusic.com.